MR. KENNAN AT THE ACADEMY.

Large Audience Enjoys His Lecture on Mountains and Mountaineers.

Mr. George Kennan lectured at the Academy last night on the "Mountains and Mountaineers of the Caucasus." his octure being the tenth of the Lyceum audience which heard Mr. Kennan was a large one, and though the lecture lasted well on to three hours, the interest hasted well on to three hours, the interest was unflegging until the close.

The speaker began his address by a rapid, graphic, general description of the Caucaus range, and the country which is inhabited, and in picturesque language

His descriptions of some of the national Gances and games were decidedly humor-ous and elicited warm applause. Shortly after beginning his address, Mr. Kennan retired from the stage a few minutes, and when he returned was arrayed in the picturesque, gorgeous costume of the men of the Caucasas, carrying consequences ously in his girdle two daggers, a very long one and a shorter, and two long, flint-lock pistols, all the weapons representing the finest workmanship, being ornamented with delicate work in silver and gold.

Mr. Kennan repeated several of the songs of the mountaineers, illustrative of their character, and the wild, heroic beauty of one of these, and the delicate sweetness of the other called forth loud

The speaker's description of the peri-The speaker's description of the peri-lous ride across the Caucasus, the path sometimes being scarcely over twenty inches in width, zigzagging along the side of cliffs, whose sheer walls towered into the clouds on the one hand, while on the the rider's foot dangled over chasm, whose bottom was concealed by the waves of rolling mist, was of thrilling interest, and his hearers listened with breathless attention.

The final description of the last stand ade by Schamil, the chleftain of the made by Schamil, the chleftnin of the patriot forces in the war against the Russians in 1859, given in simple words, but with a great deal of dramatic force, was probably the most beautiful portion

THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

It Discusses Small-Pox and the Epidemic of Meningitis.

The State Board of Health held its regular quarterly meeting at Murphy's last night.

The board's routine business was not of interest, with the exception of the report of Dr. P. A. Irving, the secretary. on the small-pox which has been prevalent in the southwestern portion of the State. The report stated that there had been about 500 cases, but that the disease was of a very mild type, only a few deaths resulting. It has been confixed to the countles of Wise, Russell, Washington, Lee, Scott, Dickenson, and Tazewell. The disease has about en-

One of the most interesting features One of the most interesting features of the meeting was a paper on "Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis," read by Dr. Landon B. Edwards, in which it was stated that this disease is, and has been for some time, epidemic in that section of Virginia between Richmond and the sea. The disease is peculiarly fatal, and within the past few weeks it has caused many deaths in Richmond, Norfolk, and throughout Virginia. It seems to be very prevalent in Norfolk, and more so in Newport News, where a large number of deaths have occurred. The fatalities in Norfolk are said to have been about 75 per cent.

Dr. Irving read a carefully-prepared paper entitled, "A Plea for Vaccination," taking the ground that it should be made general, and compulsory, especially for chool children. In the absence of Dr. Martin, of Lynchorg, Dr. Harvey presided over the meet-

THIS WELL-KNOWN RICHMOND MAN DIES IN COLUMBIA, S. C.

MR. M'KENNEY DIES IN NORFOLK.

The Popular Printer Passes Away While in Search of Health-Death

han half a century, died last night in Columbia, S. C.

The announcement of his death was conveyed to his relatives and friends in this city in a telegram received about 9 o'clock, and though it was known that he was in feeble health, they were not prepared for the tidings of his death.

Mr. Cardwell left here about three years ago to make his home with his son, Mr. David Cardwell, an official of the Columbia and Greenville branch of the South ern railway, and when he bade his friends in this city farewell he told them that he would not return alive.

Deceased was one of the oldest residents of this city, and was for many years a cook in the City Treasurer's office. He was born in the city of Petersburg nearly eighty-nine years ago, and when quite a young man moved to Richmond and engaged in the mercantile business. He was employed by several large firms, and for a number of years was connected with Messrs, Davenport & Morris, Severing his connection with this firm, he went to Washington and engaged in the newspaper business. He remained there only a few years, and at the outbreak of the war returned to Richmond. Being too old to participate in the war, Mr. Cardwell remained in this city until hostilities ceased. He then accepted a cierkship in the City Treasurer's office, where he remained for nearly a score of years, resigning about eight years ago, on account of ill health. Since that time he had been engaged in no active business.

Mr. Cardwell was a large-hearted, generous gentleman of the old school. and was held in high esteem by his many friends in this city. He was particularly fend of young people's society, and numbered among his warmest friends here many young men. He is survived by two children-Mr. David Cardwell, at whose home he died, and Miss Bettle Cardwell, who was with him at the time of his Death of a Popular Printer.

Mr. H. Hanson McKenney, a well-known printer of Eichmond, died in Norfolk yesterday morning, while on his way to Princess Anne Courthouse, to way to Princess Anne Courthouse, to visit his sister, in the hope of regaining his health, which had been failing for some time past. Deceased was in the 46th year of his age, and is survived by his wife and two young children. He was the son of Dr. William McKenney, an eminent physician of the City by the Sea, who represented Norfolk in the State Legislature before the war. Mr. McKenney was well and favorably known in Richmond as a man of sterling worth and integrity. He was a thoroughly capable printer, of wide experience and general knowledge, and at the time of his death was employed by the Dispatch is inhabited, and in picturesque language sketched the history of the people which to-day form the heterogenous population of the mountain fastnesses. He then described in a manner most highly entertaining a trip which he made from the shores of the Caspian seas, through the Cauchaus to the province of Georgia, travelling in the train of a Georgian prince. RAILROAD WRECK IN PETERSBURG But Freight-Cars Were the Only Victims.

PETERSBURG, VA., March 31 .- (Special.)-A wreck occurred on the yard of the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company to-night. An eastern-bound freight train was entering the yard, and the air brakes, when applied, refused to work on some of the cars, telescoping two freight-cars loaded with corn and breaking to pieces two others, besides in-juring several. Fortunately, the freight had taken a siding and no trains were delayed on account of the accident. THE CITY BY THE SEA.
